Change the Common Item Policy?

U.S. AIR FORCE

Lt Col Lawrence
AF/ILGP
28 August 2003

U.S. AIR FORCE

Current Policy

- Contractor manages only unique parts
- Contract specific to single weapon system
- Initial policy focused on contractor's role as weapon system manager for some programs
- Need to ensure "honest broker" for multiple users
- Existing contracts didn't address multiple users
- Single manager for consumable parts
- Overall, good policy; however, times are changing

U.S. AIR FORCE

Future Policy?

- Should policy be changed?
- Some common items are between two contractor managed systems
 - Same company or partnership companies
- Logistics reassignment requires support
- What are the issues?
 - Contract language
 - Funding from other program(s)
 - Business rules (AF repair priorities, release sequence)
 - Intraservice or interservice
 - Affect on other partnering initiatives
 - Other issues
- Later discussion on incentives
